Overview

Iron basins can effectively harness solar energy through various methods, including solar water heating, thermodynamic processes, and heat storage techniques. The Mineral Basin Solar Project is sited on. The Clean Energy Demonstration Program on Current and Former Mine Land (CEML), managed by the U. Department of Energy's (DOE) Office of Clean Energy Demonstrations (OCED), aims to demonstrate the technical and economic viability of deploying clean energy projects on current (active) and former.
